Founder & CEO | The Powers Group

EXECUTIVE OVERVIEW

Gordon E. Powers is the Founder and CEO of The Powers Group, a Hawaii-based firm that designs and builds capital, systems, infrastructure, and workforce solutions for commercial, public sector, and regulated industries.

He is typically engaged when organizations need additional coordination across teams facing resource gaps, outdated systems, vendor sprawl, or fragmented operations to deliver structure, integration, training, and resources.

With more than 28 years of leadership experience across U.S. Army and Department of Defense environments, Gordon has worked extensively throughout the Indo-Pacific alongside U.S. allies and multinational partners. His background includes operational leadership, cyber-physical security integration, and cross-sector execution work spanning defense, government, and commercial organizations.

He has supported efforts where mission assurance, security posture, and organizational readiness directly impact execution.

Gordon works directly with organizations that need on-the-ground coordination, vendor alignment, and execution support—particularly in environments where multiple stakeholders, systems, and constraints slow progress. His approach emphasizes practical execution and integration across teams, systems, and infrastructure.

A veteran and operator, Gordon brings an applied perspective shaped by real-world environments and multi-partner execution across complex systems.
