Founder & CEO | The Powers Group

EXECUTIVE OVERVIEW

Gordon E. Powers is the Founder and CEO of The Powers Group, a Hawaii-based firm delivering integrated Capital, Technology Systems, Facilities, and Training solutions across commercial, nonprofit, government, and defense markets.

Gordon leads initiatives that align capital, technology, facilities, workforce, and strategic partnerships into executable operational solutions. His work emphasizes disciplined execution, operational integration, and practical outcomes across complex organizations.

With more than 28 years of leadership experience across U.S. Army and Department of Defense environments, Gordon has worked extensively throughout the Indo-Pacific alongside U.S. allies and multinational partners. His background includes operational leadership across C5ISR, cyber-physical systems, mission systems integration, operational technology, infrastructure modernization, readiness, and multi-organizational execution environments.

His experience spans environments where mission assurance, operational readiness, cyber-physical security, stakeholder alignment, and execution discipline directly influence organizational performance and strategic outcomes.

Gordon works directly with executive leaders to coordinate strategy, partnerships, and execution across organizations where multiple stakeholders, mission critical systems, operational priorities, and risk management must be aligned.

A veteran, founder, and operator, Gordon brings an execution-focused perspective shaped by operational leadership, strategic partnerships, and real-world experience across government, defense, and commercial markets.
